

“Intelligence is not locked in a skull or a server. It is distributed. It lives in relationships. It lives in the patterns of things working together.”

---

The oldest form of intelligence amplification: fermentation. Creating conditions for distributed intelligence to emerge.

We don't extract knowledge — we create conditions where a community's knowledge becomes visible to itself.

commons.id

Techne at RegenHub

An Integral Technology Learning Center

Fund us on Artizen · 1:1 Match

techne.institute

