e / H · L A M / T /

Ecology   Human   Language   Artifacts   Methodology   Training

S

Sessions

Seven dimensions for organizing collective intelligence. Built on Douglas Engelbart's 1962 augmentation framework at the Stanford Research Institute — the lineage that produced hypertext, the mouse, and collaborative computing. Extended with ecology, because all coordination happens in a place, and sessions, because knowledge emerges from convergence.

Techne at RegenHub

An Integral Technology Learning Center · Boulder, Colorado

Fund us on Artizen · 1:1 Match

techne.institute